Transportation

The Commission staff, through the transportation planning process, strives to provide for a safe and efficient transportation system which allows easy access to all parts of Bloomington-Normal. Elements of this planning process include the Long Range Element and the Short Range Element.

The Long Range Element consists of activities designed to ensure that the transportation system is developed to meet the needs and goals of the community. To this end, the staff reviews all subdivision and development plans to assure their conformance to the Long Range and Highway Plan. The staff also develops transportation plans for new growth areas of the community. In 1986, the staff completed such a plan for the Enterprise Zone and the West Route 9 area to accommodate the Diamond-Star Motors plant and the future needs of the area. The level of growth in the Bloomington-Normal Urbanized Area created a need to expand the urban limits, which are contemporaneous with the level of growth in the transportation study area, to allow for continued planning. The staff worked closely with Illinois Department of Transportation representatives in carrying out the expansion. The staff also reviewed the Environmental Assessments of the proposed 2/20 runways and the Oakland Avenue Relocation options. Staff also attended meetings concerning the LSF alignment and the development of the Bloomington-Normal Bike Trail.

The overall objective of the Short Range Element is to study and provide solutions to specific problems of the transportation system, as they arise. The components of the Short Range Element are the Street and Highway component, the Bloomington-Normal Public Transit System element and the Fiscal Years 1987-1991 Transportation Improvement Program.

Under the Street and Highway component, the staff conducts a variety of studies to gather the data needed to provide solutions to current transportation system problems, and to build the data base necessary for effective planning. During 1986, the staff conducted an intersection count at West College and Grove Streets in Normal, to ascertain the need for a crossing guard; completed a count at the intersections of College and Beech and Willow and Beech, in Normal, for the determination of the need for green street stop. Other studies included an origin and destination survey of traffic on School Street, between North and Beavort on the I.S.U. campus, to determine the impact of closing this street segment to through traffic to increase student pedestrian safety. At the request of the Normal Police Department, the staff also completed a five year accident history of University Street between Harris and Virginia.

The 1986 Transit Element included a transit promotion brochure which contained free ride coupons. The staff developed the text, graphics and art work for the brochure. Other transit related activities included the analysis of the Bloomington-Normal Public Transit System operating statistics, the completion of the On-Board Ridership Survey, and the review of the UMTA Private Enterprise Participation Regulations.
